

Patsy Shadoin Authoress of Essay, Will Appear In December Issue Of "Seventeen" Magazine

Miss Patsy Shadoin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Shadoin, of Bay St. Louis, is the author of an essay on faith appearing in the December issue of SEVENTEEN Magazine, read by over two and a half million American teen-agers.

Miss Shadoin's article, titled "The Promise of Faith," describes her search for spiritual values and her growing "discoveries . . . and inner trust." It is one of four spiritual articles by young people published by the magazine in honor of Christmas.

"I don't have to feel God's hand pushing me or hear a mighty voice from heaven to know that God is always behind me, helping and guiding me in every action," Patsy writes in Seventeen. "I took a long look at the real me, the person on the inside, and found the courage to try again when I fail, the strength to forgive, and most of all, the confidence to pray."

Miss Shadoin is a recent graduate of St. Joseph's Academy, where she was class president, feature-page editor of the school paper, basketball scorekeeper and member of the social committee. At present, she attends the University of Alabama, where she is a freshman student in the school of Journalism.

During the past year, Patsy was president of the House of Young Churchmen of the Episcopal Church. Last August she represented Mississippi at the National Episcopal Youth Convention.

Miss Shadoin's essay appears in SEVENTEEN'S "It's All Yours" section, a department devoted entirely to teen-age contributions.

Continuation Of Fight Against Polio Depends Largely On Jan. Drive

The future of the continuing fight against polio will depend in large degree on the success of next January's March of Dimes, Mrs. Theo Tudury, Hancock County Chairman, said today.

Mrs. Tudury has just returned from a March of Dimes planning meeting in New Orleans with Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which was attended by 400 volunteer leaders from Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida.

The Salk polio vaccine marks a great step forward, but polio isn't licked yet, Mrs. Tudury said. "I won't be until polio crippling is a thing of the past. That can happen only when everybody who is susceptible has been given the protection vaccine affords, and we have rebuilt the lives of tens of thousands for whom the vaccine came to late."

Preparations for the 1956 March of Dimes will start immediately in Hancock County, Mrs. Tudury said. "The National Foundation's school vaccine program has provided a large measure of polio protection for about 7,000,000 children this year. But the disease has claimed thousands of new victims among the 53,000,000 remaining under age 20 who have received no vaccine. Moreover, a small percentage of individuals do not respond to the vaccine."

William Adams Expires In Pass

William F. Adams, Sr., a life-long resident of Pass Christian, died at his home on Davis Avenue, at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, November 24. He was stricken earlier in the day with what was thought to be indigestion, but the pain continued, an ambulance was called, but the end came.

Mr. Adams and his wife have been in the florist business for years. He was a member of the Methodist Church, Masonic, Southern Star, Long Beach, a charter member of Pass Christian Rotary Club, Mississippi Florists Association and Nurserymen's Association and Florist Telegraph and Delivery Association.

Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, William F. Adams, Jr., of Gulfport and Howard Adams of Bay St. Louis; one daughter, Mrs. Emma Lou Goodwin of Gulfport; nine grandchildren; two brothers, Fred Adams and John B. Adams of Lake Charles, La.; two sisters, Mrs. J. P. Epperson of Pass Christian and Mrs. Evelyn Berry of China Lake, California.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p. m. from Riemann's Pass Christian chapel and burial was in Live Oak Cemetery. Members of the Pass Christian Rotary Club acted as honorary pallbearers.

Thus new polio patients are continuously added to the thousands who already rely on the March of Dimes for help. Even as we look hopefully to the future, we realize our obligations to those who still must be served."

Mrs. Tudury pointed out that the Salk vaccine in 1954 was proved 80 to 90 percent effective, and that since then it has been increased in potency. This means possibly an even higher percentage of protection was given those who received at least two shots before the 1955 polio season.

But scientists are seeking ways of improving it still further, she said, and funds must be provided for continuing research. In addition, money is needed to continue the work of training doctors, nurses, therapists and other professional workers for both research and patient care.

National Foundation officials attending the meeting included Joseph P. Nee, director of fund raising; George P. Voss, director of chapters; Mrs. Dorothy Lucas, public relations director; Miss Elaine Whitelaw, director of women's activities; Burr Gibson, assistant fund raising director; and James T. Edgington, assistant to the director of fund raising.

Celebrates 90th Birthday, Dec. 2

Amid a veritable flood of telegrams, cards, telephone calls, and visits from friends, Rene deMontuizn, Sr., began his ninety-first year on Friday, December 2nd. Still in excellent health and spirits, "Mr. Rene" enjoys the distinction of being Mississippi's oldest pharmacist and one of Bay St. Louis' oldest citizens.

Mr. deMontuizn has seen many changes in his lifetime and many people notable in our country's history. He has survived smallpox and yellow fever epidemics, wars, and depressions.

His life has been spent in work at his profession of pharmacy and in devotion to his family and community. His many friends wish him continued health and happiness for years to come.

Dale Morris, 31, Montana Cowboy, held as a suspect in the slaying of Charles Plink, Sr., of Bay St. Louis, was extradited from Louisiana last Friday. He was immediately taken to the Pascagoula jail, where he will remain pending a grand jury hearing in March. The decision to take him to Pascagoula was made by Hancock County Sheriff John A. Fegloff, who stated that the jail here was not suited to accommodate such a prisoner on a long term basis.

Morris, the owner of the car used in the get-away of the killer, was apprehended by New Orleans police in a Gentilly motel, Thursday, November 24. The murder weapon, along with other guns and a great deal of ammunition was found in his possession, when captured.

Hancock County authorities are holding Miss Vera Hancy in the County jail as a material witness against Morris. Ocean Springs police arrested Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lankey, supposed hitchhikers and members of Morris' party Wednesday night, November 23rd as possible suspects. They are out of jail on bond, but report to the Ocean Springs authorities twice a day.

Judge George P. Pratt ordered Morris turned over to the Mississippi authorities after a hearing in which extradition papers signed by Governor Hugh White and Louisiana Governor Robert F. Kennon were presented to the court.

Mrs. Gertrude Lankey testified during the hearing that she and her husband were with Morris before the shooting took place, but that they left his car approximately three miles west of the Bay St. Louis bridge.

Former New Orleans Police Superintendent Joseph L. Schenring, who now is operating a private detective agency, said he has been co-operating with Mississippi officers after being hired by Morris' family to investigate the case.

Why The Increase?

Last week this paper announced an increase in the price of advertising to become effective January 1st, and we have had a few inquiries as to the reason for a raise. We also read that another newspaper expressed like intention.

Naturally, this paper hesitates to increase its advertising rates during the past twelve years there has been no increase in our rates, and we know of no other business that has increased its prices or commodities in twelve years. The cost of labor has risen, and every product we use in the production of a paper has risen many fold within the past twelve years. There was a time when common, ordinary newsprint was cheap, but no more. Newsprint alone has tripled in price since the war. It took another jump of five dollars per ton a few weeks ago.

It might be interesting to note that the advertising rates of the newspapers is the lowest in the State of Mississippi, and even in the increase goes into effect they will still be the lowest in the State.

The subscription rates will not be increased. The same price for twelve years has been in effect for a quarter of a century. The only increase in advertising rates is in the price of the paper. As a general rule, we do not increase our rates on subscribers, but it takes a lot of money to make a newspaper, and we proudly boast the great circulation of a weekly paper in this vicinity.

There is a reason, but if we don't raise our advertising rates, we are here to handle your advertising for you. We have no other choice, what the newspapers and the others told us.

Shown above are Miss Annette Monti and Lazaro Holland, queen and king of the court at the recent Flea-Fly classic held in St. Stanislaus Stadium.

HOME AGENT NOTES

Let's make this a Holiday Safety Column.

The holiday spirit is appearing all about us now—in our homes, the stores, the lighted, decorated streets, in parties and in lot of other places.

With this goes the hustle and bustle of crowds, confusion and tiredness that easily leads to accidents. And none of us want to ma our own or our friends' and family's season with accidents. It pays to plan against them.

SAFETY AGAINST FIRE
On step toward safety against fire is to buy or make your Christmas decorations so that they are fire-resistant. Place Christmas greens away from candles and electric light bulbs and away from heat or sparks from fire places.

As you arrange your dinner-table centerpiece, remember that fires have been started by a combination of greens or paper decorations close to lighted candles.

Be sure Santa has a fire-safe costume. Sometimes Santa suits of untreated napped fabrics, or whiskers of untreated cotton batting have proved hazardous.

For fire protection have plenty of good-sized, steady ash trays around any room where a crowd will gather.

A BEAUTIFUL TREE
All the family from the littlest one to the oldest loves a beautifully decorated Christmas tree. As you select your tree if you buy it, be sure it is fresh. Keep your tree fresh by keeping it standing in a container of water. The tree also needs to be anchored firmly so it can't topple.

Place the tree out of the way of traffic, lanes and doorways where people won't brush into it. For fire-safety place it away from the fireplace and away from any updraft such as occurs in a stairwell. Christmas trees that have toppled over in doorways have sometimes blocked exits when fire has broken out.

Check the Christmas tree lights to be sure they are in good repair with tight sockets and an all insulation intact. Make sure not to plug too many lights into a single wall socket.

Safety About The House
All steps and stairways in the house need to be well-lighted and freesteps and other items that might turn an ankle or catch a heel and cause a fall. It's well to remember that visitors don't know their way around your house as your family does, so they need extra protection against any possible fall hazards.

If you wax floors before company comes, use a thin layer and polish so thoroughly the floors won't be slippery. Be sure there are no skiddy rugs, hazardous especially to older people. Avoid any extension wires that can be trip hazards or fire hazards.

Kitchen Safety
All the familiar rules about

Mrs. J. Orr Hosts Blue Jeans Garden Club In Clermont

Mrs. J. A. Orr was hostess to the Blue Jeans Garden Club, Monday, Nov. 21st at her home safety in the kitchen apply especially to the holidays when this room gets heavier use and often is more crowded.

To avoid falls wipe up promptly any food that happens to spill on the floor, especially grease. Make sure that young children are well away from the stove when the oven door is opened for the Christmas ham or turkey to come out or when there's considerable cooking on top of the stove.

The increase in cooking for Christmas often brings on a larger number of burn injuries caused by hot grease fires. What should the cook do in case of grease fire?

If it is in the oven, close the oven door to exclude the air and stop the fire. If the fire is in a skillet or on a gas or electric stove, first cut off the stove. Then put on the skillet, using a low handled fork.

The grease fire can best be put out by sprinkling baking soda over the burning grease. Salt or sand may be used, but baking soda is best because it forms a cloud that helps to exclude air from the fire. Above all, keep your head and act calmly.

Highlighting the event was the annual "White Elephant" auction, at which Mrs. Dennis, acting as auctioneer, with animated cleverness drew forth rapid-fire bids and kept purses sipping spontaneously with her cries of, "Going, Going, Gone." Quite a substantial sum was realized and the participants had fun guessing the use of some of the "elephants" as Mrs. C. Becker's cherry pitter. Her donation of a weird Japanese Fire god created excitement and was bought by Mrs. J. Richmond, who intends delving into its history.

Proceeding the auction, judging of arrangements brought three more ribbons to Mrs. J. Rousseau for best specimens in Dried, Cultivated and Potted divisions. Mrs. Orr's entry of a red rose won for her a ribbon for best Horticultural entry. Mrs. R. Landry again won first prize in the Miniature class with a very dainty arrangement. Mrs. J. Borgeas won the entrance prize.

Attending besides those mentioned were Mrs. A. Bing, Mrs. William Borgeas, Mrs. H. Burleigh and her mother, Mrs. Duffins, a guest from Opelousas; Mrs. John Borgeas, Mrs. Dantagnan, Mrs. Saleeby, Mrs. McCoy, Mr. V. Simms, Mrs. Hankins, Mrs. J. Poegle, and Mrs. Cope.

The group is planning a Christmas party with exchange of gifts as is the annual custom. The party is to be held December 18th at the home of Mrs. Rae Cope on Clermont Boulevard.

A PENNY Still BUYS A LOT

The clean, blue flame of natural gas is the biggest bargain in your home today... just as it has been for many years.

While the price of nearly everything else you buy has increased greatly over the years, natural gas service is still selling at 1935 rates—and lower. Our residential and commercial customers, on the average, are now paying less per thousand cubic feet of natural gas than they did 20 years ago.

Natural gas serves the homes and industries of the Gulf South—serves them dependably and economically.

Gas is best

County Agent Notes

PORK SAUSAGE

Sausage making is a man's job. Properly made and correctly seasoned, sausage is a tasty product.

You can make a batch at home, or your local cold storage locker plant will do it for you.

To make good sausage, use only good quality fresh pork. Trimmings will do, but boned shoulder and loins make better sausage.

A proper mixture is two thirds lean to one third fat. The lean and fat should be cut into small pieces.

Here is a good recipe to try. For each four pounds of meat use two and a fourth level tablespoons of salt, two of black pepper, one half of red pepper, one and a half of sage and one tablespoon of sugar.

Sprinkle ingredients over the meat, then mix well with your hands. Next, put the seasoned meat, then mix well with your hands. Next, put the seasoned meat, then mix well with your hands. Next, put the seasoned meat, then mix well with your hands.

Fresh pork sausage will keep in the refrigerator for two to three weeks; it will keep two to four months in the home freezer or cold storage locker. For freezer storage, use only the best grade of packaging material. Do not use inferior wrapping paper.

PASTURE NOTES

Management will pay off on winter grazing areas. Where the winter grazing is planted on cultivated land and has been grazed down, take the animals off and give it a chance to come back.

After the oats or wheat make the extra growth, put the animals back on for a few hours each day, then there will not be so much damage to the root system.

Oats that have been grazed down can be reinitiated this fall with 30 pounds of nitrogen. While the plants may not use all this nitrogen this fall, it will be there for early spring growth.

Keep livestock off cultivated grazing areas when they are wet. During wet weather, graze the sod seeded areas. If this area is limited and heavily stocked, let livestock graze a few hours a day, then move them to unseeded sod areas. Late planted sod seeded areas should not be grazed until the plants get four to five inches tall.

Frosted sorghums. Danger from grazing frosted sorghums is gone when the stalks dry out. These fields, along with harvested cotton and corn fields, offer a lot of winter feed for cattle.

SOILS TESTING

Now is a good time to take soil samples and send them to the State Soils Testing Laboratory at Mississippi State College, for detailed lime and fertilizer needs.

By sending in samples now for areas to be planted to pasture, you can beat the rush and get the results of the tests back in plenty of time to apply the recommended plant food before planting time.

Pass Garden Club

Lists Improved

Areas For Nov.

A Christmas Flower Show was sponsored by the Pass Garden Club at the Trinity Episcopal Church Parish House this past Thursday.

Among the many varieties of lovely flowers were displays of centerpiece and decorations. Judges were Mrs. Eugene McGabgab of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Donald Fitzroy of Biloxi.

The show was followed by a tea with the Junior Garden Club members assisting.

A short business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. Joseph A. Airey, presiding.

A report on the Wild Flower Project by Miss Jane Northrop, stated that a 600 foot strip along Menge Avenue has been planted with Crimson Clover, 8 Yupon bushes and 6 Altheas were transplanted. 4 Conservation signs were posted, and paths were cut for the last time until spring.

On November 18th, the Junior Garden Club donated and planted 2 Dogwood trees in the picnic area. This month, 2 dozen wild Iris were planted along with the sowing of Magnolia, Milkweed, Coffee Bean and 4 O'Clocks.

Eight Servicemen Enroute Overseas Will Receive Red Cross Gifts Packages

Eight lucky servicemen enroute overseas will receive attractive gift packages on Christmas morning, thanks to the generosity of local organizations who responded to the recent Red Cross appeal for the Christmas on-the-High-Seas project.

Sgt. A. J. Chiniche At Fort Polk

Filling the assigned quota for the Hancock County Chapter, the eight boxes were donated by: Women's Benevolent Association; Adult Women's Group and Young Women's Group of the Methodist Church; Delta Sigma Chi Sorority; Mmes. Etta Maspero and Karl von Metzradt (Red Cross Sewing Group) and Gray Ladies of the Red Cross, Hancock County Chapter.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Chairman of Entertainment and Supply Committee of the local Red Cross Chapter, was in charge of gift collections.

The nationwide project is sponsored each year by the American Red Cross, through its local chapters, to assure a happy Christmas for servicemen at sea on Christmas morning. In each gift package a card is enclosed, showing the name of the local organization donating it. Each local Red Cross chapter ships its quota of gifts to a specified port of embarkation, where they are put aboard ship and distributed on Christmas morning.
